Six Elk Point steers in 4-H Parade of Champions

Daily Gain, Grooming, showmanship awards for Elk Point

FINISHING TOUCHES FOR STARS STEER - Randy Wruth gives "STARS," the steer raised by the Wruth family with the support of many donors, a few finishing touches before the sale. Proceeds from the steer went to STARS Air Ambulance.

Six Elk Point steers were in the Parade of Champions last Monday night as the top animals from each of five weight classes received final scrutiny from 4-H Inter-Club Show judge Ken Lewis. Steers shown by Adam Zapesocki, Shawna Wruth, James Babenek, Clayton Wruth, Melissa DeSilva and Nichole Havener made it to the semi-final round, with the Babenek, DeSilva and Havener steers making it to the five-steer final round, along with two steers from the St. Lina 4-H Beef Club.

The two St. Lina steers were victorious. Michelle Dallaire's 1260 pound steer was chosen as Grand Champion, while first year 4-Her Lee Michaud received the Reserve Championship for his 1160 pound animal. The Grand Champion later sold for $1.60 per pound, with the Reserve going for $1.65 per pound.

Also going into the Parade of Champions from the five weight classes were Ronald Martin, St. Lina; Louise St. Arnault, St. Paul; Jaime Michaud, St. Lina; Gisele Langevin, Goodridge; Shannon Ambler, Goodridge; Joy Ambler, Goodridge; Maxine Dargis, Goodridge; and Brandee Pratch, Goodridge.

St. Lina also captured the Club Display honors after leading their complement of 37 calves into a tidy horseshoe formation which impressed the judges.

This year's Stall Display trophy went to Goodridge 4-H Beef Club, who decorated each stall with a silhouette bearing the club member's name, and who highlighted their display with an eye-catching barn shaped frame containing photos of their members and leaders. Elk Point, who displayed a "garden" of cloverleaf shapes, one for each year of the club's existence and listing that year's members and leaders, were runners-up in the category. Stall and Club Display judges were Dorine Kuzma and Jay Byer.

Teams from each club participated in Club Judging, with St. Paul's team of Jacqueline Caouette, Micheal Fontaine, Jennifer Pattison and David Fontaine collecting 300 points for the win. Elk Point was second with 285 points. Individual Judging prizes went to Jim St. Arnault, St. Paul; Laurent St. Arnault, St. Paul; Coral VanDerVoort, Goodridge; and Amanda Zapesocki, Elk Point.

Goodridge 4-H Beef Club's well-matched entry won the Pen of Five competition, with Elk Point placing second.

An Elk Point steer owned by Peter Danyluk gained a whopping 3.505 pounds per day to win the Daily Gain trophy. Karrie Smyl of Goodridge showed the runner-up, who gained 3.446 pounds per day, while Jennifer Dargis of St. Lina showed the third place steer, with a gain of 3.394 pounds per day.

Heinsburg students: Daring to say "NO!" to drugs

By Juanita R. Daniels
Heinsburg Student Reporter

Heinsburg School has a reason to be proud. On Monday, May 31, the Grade 5 and 6 classes at Heinsburg held the first ever D.A.R.E. graduation. It was a new program introduced in the Grade 5 and 6 class. Surrounded by parents, friends and teachers, the students proudly accepted their diplomas and pledged to say no to drug and alcohol use.

The D.A.R.E. program was brought to the school by Cst. Kathy Bedard and Grade 5 and 6 teacher, Mr. Edward Smuk. At the ceremonies, Cst. Bedard explained the meaning and function of the D.A.R.E. program, saying that it "targets elementary school children..." by teaching them to have a "...greater respect for the law..." and by providing children with vital "decision making capabilities." Heinsburg School principal, Mr. Lorne Young, stated that D.A.R.E. is an "extremely beneficial program."

The D.A.R.E. program, which was introduced in 1983, stands for Drug Awareness Resistance Education. The program targets mainly Grade 5 and 6 classes. The program was established to help children realize that drug and alcohol abuse does not have to be an option, or play a part in a person's life. The main reason for stressing drug awareness to Grade 5 and 6 students is because children in the age brackets of 10 to 12 are greatly influenced by peers. The course's main goal is to help these children realize the difference between positive peer pressure and negative peer pressure, by incorporating videos, workbooks and high school students to help prevent drug and alcohol use.

The Heinsburg Grade 5 and 6 classes' knowledge on drug and alcohol prevention shone through at the graduation ceremonies. Amidst a gaily decorated gym, the students performed skits, sang songs and read personal essays. Three students were chosen to read their essays to the guests. The essays were based on drug awareness and how to avoid drug use. In Grooming and showmanship are important parts of the 4-H program, and were judged by Mark Draves. Jaylynn Wirsta, Elk Point, was first in Junior Grooming, with Michelle Dallaire, St. Lina, second, while in the Senior category, Micheal Fontaine of St. Paul was first and James Babenek, Elk Point, was second. Maxine Dargis, Goodridge, placed first in Junior Showmanship with Justin Kolody of Goodridge second. James Babenek received top Senior Showman honors, with Joy Ambler of Goodridge second.

The show was emceed by Ray Danyluk, while Steve Upham and Andy Dechaine were ringmasters.

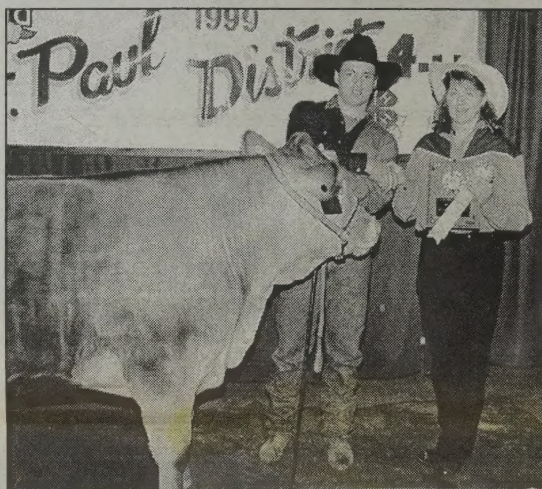

In the sale following the awards presentation, a steer raised by the Wruth family of Elk Point, with numerous donors contributing to the project, was sold for $3.00 per pound, with the proceeds going to STARS Air Ambulance. A steer owned by the St. Paul 4-H District was escorted into

We want to say thank you.

A message in support of Alberta's health care teams and the people they help.

We know that Alberta's health care teams work hard, under many pressures and demands, to give their patients and clients a high quality of health care.

We recognize the dedication these teams bring to their work every day and, as our province's health system experienced unique stresses in recent weeks, they consistently put the people they help first.

We thank all the nurses, other front-line staff and the people who support them for their professionalism. We also want to thank those Albertans who may have been personally affected for their patience and perseverance.

Our health system will continue to face pressures and challenges as the province's population grows and ages.

Alberta's health authorities are committed to support and strengthen our health system - and its health care teams - to meet these challenges.

We are committed to work together and to build for the future.

The Seniors Week that was

By Deanna Easthope
FCSS Director

Last week was Senior Citizens Week. It was great to see the special activities that occurred last week. Thank you everyone.

Seniors Week started at the Seniors Centre with a pancake breakfast for the Seniors and the Grade 2 classes of the Elk Point Elementary School. The children sang a couple of songs for the seniors and some of the seniors told the children what it was like for them when they were children. Several good stories were shared. Because the children had already developed good feelings of being with their own grandparents, they felt quite at home amongst these seniors. All generations represented came away with saying they had a good time. This was nice to see.

Then at Heritage Lodge, Fort George Manor, Buckingham House and Extencicare, other activities happened during the week that showed the seniors they were special people to be honored. At these places I would like to mention a few people. These people treat seniors with kindness and respect as well as having fun with them. They are Carolyn Onusko, Jerome Keichinger, Alvina Schuhmacher, Kathy Berlinguette and Diane Young. You people are great! Thank you. Of course I can't forget the rest of the staff who spend time with seniors as well. Thank you to all of you. What these people do reminds me of a story.

"Reporters and city officials gathered at a Chicago railroad station one afternoon in 1953. The person they were meeting was the 1952 Nobel Peace Prize winner. A few minutes after the train came to a stop, a giant of a man - six foot four - with bushy hair and a large moustache stepped from the train. Cameras flashed. City officials approached him with hands outstretched. Various ones began telling him how honored they were to meet him.

The man politely thanked them and then, looking over their heads, he asked if he could be excused for a moment. He quickly walked through the crowd until he reached the side of an elderly black woman who was struggling with two large suitcases. He picked up the bags and with a smile, escorted the woman to a bus. After helping her aboard, he wished her a safe journey. Returning to the greeting party, he apologized, "Sorry to have kept you waiting."

The man was Dr. Albert Schweitzer, the famous missionary doctor who had spent his life helping the poor in Africa. In response to Schweitzer's action, one member of the reception committee said with great admiration to the reporter standing next to him, "That's the first time I ever saw a sermon walking."

I not only feel we have good people in our town who work with seniors, I also feel we have good seniors in our town. You are all wonderful. Thank you, everyone, for all the sharing and caring you do with each other. Yes, it is like watching a sermon walking.

Healthy living with sunshine

The Alberta Cancer Board, together with the Canadian Cancer Society and Environment Canada, produced an interactive computer program on the sun's UV rays and skin protection.

"In 1994, this colorful kiosk visited 28 locations throughout Alberta," says Ellen Murphy, scientific information officer with the Alberta Cancer Board, Calgary. "An on-line survey collected data from more than 1,700 users. Of those who responded to a question about receiving new information, 72 per cent reported that they had learned something new."

Although the program was intended to reach 18 to 39 year-olds, most of the users were under 15. As a result, an expanded CD-ROM version for students from grades 4 to 6 was produced.

"In addition to information on ultraviolet radiation, the program focuses on the ozone layer, skin health and ecosystem responses to sunlight," adds Murphy. "Students have fun learning about the relationship between human health and the environment and how they can take action to protect their skin and help the ozone layer."

This innovative software was picked up nationally and a bilingual version was distributed to all schools in Alberta as well as school boards throughout Canada.

TIC Talk

By Sherry Pelech
Tourist Information Clerk

The good news is - we have received our B.C. information. However, the bad news is - we will not be getting any new B.C. maps this year and there is only one left from last year. So if you need one you had best rush to our door.

And more good news - the missing renegade Saskatchewan maps have been found and are available for $1.75.

Now on to other matters of importance. As many of you are aware, the TIC (Tourist Information Centre) is ideally situated for the placement of garage sale signs and notices. Please feel free to put your notices up but also please feel free to remove them again when your sale is finished. Also it would be helpful if you could make your signs big enough that people do not have to park their vehicles dangerously on the corner to read them. And to the people who are interested in writing down the addresses of the garage sales - if you could park your vehicles a little way down the street and walk back to the corner, you will not be violating any traffic laws. Or you could pull into the convenient driveway at the back of the TIC.

At this point, business has been slow. We assume the cold weather has so far discouraged people from believing that summer will indeed show again this year. It's probably the fault of El Nino's grumpy uncle, or evil twin, or psychotic brother or something. Nonetheless, the calendar tells us that the summer solstice is only moments away and we should be making plans for our holidays.

In fact, Canada Day is almost upon us and we still need volunteers to help with the Pancake Breakfast. Anyone who knows one end of a spatula from the other will be gratefully accepted (and even if you don't, we can find another use for you.)

Happy Father's Day

Final Summit on Justice report

By Paul Langevin, MLA
Lac La Biche - St. Paul

Jon Havelock, former Minister of Justice and Attorney General, now Minister of Economic Development, announced May 18, 1999, that the Alberta Government is committed to the recommendations of the Alberta Summit on Justice.

These recommendations from the Summit will form the basis of the next Alberta Justice three year business planning process. The department will keep Albertans informed through regular updates and its annual reports.

Minister Havelock has committed to establish an advisory committee from among key justice stakeholder associations, to ensure long-term focus and commitment to changes in the system.

Commitments include:

- Better communication with Albertans aimed at helping educate the public about the justice system, First Nations and Metis justice issues and issues specific to other cultural groups;
- Simplifying access to the justice system — including a commitment to put all Justice and court documents into plain language;
- Improved community partnerships — including joint strategies under the Children's Services Authority aimed at early intervention.
- More recognition for the role and rights of victims in court processes;
- More emphasis on diversion programs and restorative justice for appropriate criminal cases;
- Taking action on previous studies and reports on justice; and

■ Initiating requests for new moneys through the business planning process.

The government response addresses the eight main themes and 25 core recommendations put forward by Summit delegates. The response outlines immediate strategies, including those already underway, short term strategies, including those that could be implemented in the current fiscal year depending on available resources, and longer term strategies, which will be built into future three-year business plans and may require additional funding.

The Summit on Justice was held in Calgary, Alberta, January 27-29, 1999. Of the 151 delegates invited to the Summit, 83 were randomly selected from across the province based on demographics such as gender, age, occupation and First Nation / Metis considerations. The other 68 were representatives from sectors with an interest in justice issues. Prior to the summit, public meetings were held in 17 communities across Alberta, and the results of the consultation process were provided to the delegates for consideration.

The government response to the Final Report is available on request through CAN Fax-on-Demand at (780) 422-8703 and ordering document number 7674, and on the Internet at: <http://www.gov.ab.ca/justicesummit/>

Food safety for the summer season

By Julia Painchaud, BSc RD
Elk Point Health Centre

Summer is almost here - the time for get togethers, barbecues, salads and fun! But it is also a time of increased risk for food poisoning.

Bacteria need three things to grow - nutrients, moisture and a favorable temperature. If conditions are right, bacteria can multiply at a very fast rate, causing illness in people who eat the food containing the bacteria or toxin produced by the bacteria. Symptoms can range from upset stomach or diarrhea to serious illness and death. A potentially hazardous food may not look or smell bad, thereby increasing the risk of food poisoning. Here are some things to keep in mind to decrease your risk.

General rule - Keep cold foods cold, below 40 C. Keep hot foods hot, above 60o C. In the danger zone, between 4 and 60o C, bacteria can multiply very rapidly. Use the fridge, coolers and ice to keep salads and other cold items below 40 C. Try to keep hot foods above 60o C until ready to serve. Try not to place cold or hot items on the table until people are ready to eat. Try to put leftovers away immediately after a meal instead of letting them warm or cool to room temperature. Thaw foods in the fridge, a basin of cold water (fully cover the food item) or defrost in the microwave instead of thawing an item on the counter. This helps prevent the outside of the food from getting warm while the inside is still thawing.

Cook meats well - especially hamburger meat, turkey and chicken. Cooking to the proper temperature destroys the bacteria. Ground meats are a concern because the bacteria found on the surface of the meat gets mixed into the meat.

Prevent cross-contamination of bacteria from one food item to another through hands, utensils and work surfaces by:

- Washing hands thoroughly with warm soapy water after handling meats, eggs, fish, etc.

- Washing work surfaces and utensils with hot soapy water or bleach solution after handling meat, eggs, fish, etc.

- Store uncooked meat in a container in the fridge to prevent meat juices from dripping onto other foods.

These simple suggestions can go a long way in helping to prevent food-borne illnesses. If some of your food safety methods are questionable, try making some changes for the better. Have a wonderful and SAFE summer season.

Daring to say "NO!"

his essay entitled "Becoming a good citizen," Levi Bristow revealed how he learned the "many different ways to say no..." and how he acquired the knowledge to "respect myself and respect others." Jill Hope was another student who read her personal essay entitled "How D.A.R.E. helps lives" and expressed that one of the most important things you learn in D.A.R.E. is that "you have the right to say no." Amber Bilau also read her essay entitled "What I learned in D.A.R.E." and poignantly stated perhaps the best attribute that D.A.R.E. has. She said that it teaches you to "respect yourself."

Among the many guests at the ceremonies was Mr. Ray Danyluk who said that D.A.R.E. is "one of the most acclaimed prevention programs" that "involves the community" and provides participants with a "history of the things that you are proud of." Mr. Danyluk stressed to the students at the end of his speech, "don't disappoint yourself."

The D.A.R.E. high school role models were also recognized at the ceremonies. Roscoe Sanders and Melissa Durocher both answered questions about not using drugs and about how to stay drug free. Both role models received a D.A.R.E. role model t-shirt.

Then came the moment that the students had tried diligently to achieve, and did. As each student walked up to the stage accompanied by the Lion King song, "Can You Feel the Love Tonight," they received their diploma from Cst. Bedard and Mr. Smuk. Following the handing out of the diplomas, Cst. Bedard recognized

Kasondra McCarthy with the award for Spirit of D.A.R.E. and also awarded Kasondra with the D.A.R.E. lion. Cst. Bedard praised the students for trying hard and working diligently to complete the course.

In the closing remarks, principal Mr. Lorne Young praised Cst. Kathy Bedard for her efforts with the D.A.R.E. program and stated that she "embodies the spirit of teaching." To show their appreciation to Cst. Bedard, each student presented her with a rose for her efforts.

On behalf of the Grade 5 and 6 class, they would like to thank Cst. Bedard for her amazing efforts in introducing the program to the school, Mr. Smuk for also bringing the program to the school, and Mrs. Topilinsky and Mrs. Chalifoux for their unflagging devotion to helping the class throughout the course of the program. The Grade 5 and 6 class would also like to send a special thanks to their sponsors: St. Paul and Area Victim Services Unit, St. Paul and Area Rural Crime Watch, County of St. Paul and Enhanced Policing St. Paul and Elk Point

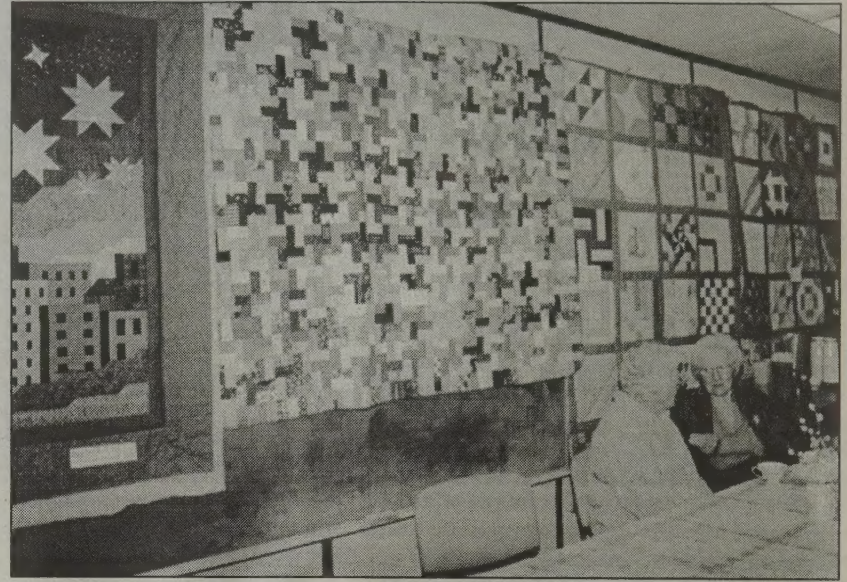

Further Ed wraps up season with open house

Elk Point Further Education held an open house and potluck luncheon on June 2 where the results of quilting and craft groups were proudly displayed for admiring visitors.

The Further Ed Building was literally lined with quilts, and tables were laden with a variety of interesting handcrafted items created over the past fall and winter season by the busy and talented fingers of Elk Point's crafters.

QUILTS AND QUILTERS -- Two members of the Wednesday Quilting Group chat over a cup of tea beneath some of the Craft Group's finest productions of the year. Quilting takes many forms, from practical coverlets fashioned from used clothing to be sent to the less fortunate, to the magnificent examples of the quilter's art shown above, which are heirlooms for future generations.

CRAFTS APLENTY are displayed along with even more quilts. Elk Point's crafters have had a very productive season, creating a variety of decorative and useful items during their sessions at Further Ed.

Three FGM Crusaders advance to Provincials in track and field

By Leanne Wilson
Student Journalist

Hello from F. G. Miller High School. Well the sports scene is buzzing with the news from Senior Track Championships and the senior SPAA Fastball Tournament. The senior Crusaders have been working hard preparing for these events and the effort definitely paid off.

On June 4, Senior Track Championships at Zone level were held in Lloydminster. Tanya Pankiw captured a gold medal for triple jump, a bronze for the 3000 m race, and a bronze again for the 1500 m race. Travis Brown took home a silver for discus and javelin. Krystal Yake won gold for shotput and a silver medal for discus. Darcy Stafford captured a bronze for triple jump while Curtis Croteau won a bronze for shotput. Dallas Flamond won bronze for high jump and a silver medal for the 4x100 relay.

Tanya Pankiw, Travis Brown and Krystal Yake will all be advancing to Provincial Track and Field Championships to represent F. G. Miller. Congratulations to all track and field winners.

Now onto ball news. Elk Point hosted the senior SPAA Fastball Tournament on May 31. Both the girls' and boys' Crusader teams battled their way to the "A" finals. F. G. Miller's teams played well but were edged out in the end by Regional's teams.

Next week will bring my reporting year to a close. Well, that's all from F. G. Miller. Until next week...

Gardening Expert

I love the look of a hanging basket dripping with flowers. Hanging baskets can be home to a dynamite show of foliage or a heavy yield of vegetables, but you've got to plan carefully for success.

First, choose the right container. I never put plants in anything smaller than a ten inch pot; in fact, I prefer to use a twelve inch pot whenever possible. Containers smaller than this simply don't have enough soil volume to support the extensive root systems of the plant. Plant roots quickly fill all of the porous areas in small containers, occupying the very spaces where precious water and oxygen are meant to reside. If I were to water a plant that's in an eight inch hanging basket before I headed to work — say, at 7:30 a.m. — by the time I got back home, at 5:30 p.m. or so, the poor thing would be completely dried out. Lack of water is the #1 cause of poor performance in hanging baskets; in my experience, 90% of basket failures are due to insufficient moisture. One day of this harsh treatment probably won't kill the plant, but a few weeks of it sure will; plants stressed in this manner are more vulnerable to insect damage and disease. Surprisingly, a twelve inch pot has nearly double the volume of a ten incher, giving plants ample root space and providing a reservoir for water; given that, the choice between them is clear.

Next, choose the right planting medium. Soil is something that professional growers spend a good deal of time examining, with good reason. After all, a large hanging basket has, let's say, six plants; a moss lined wire basket may have thirty. The only reservoir of water and nutrients that the plant has access to is whatever paltry amount the soil can yield. Soil properties are extremely important under these conditions. For filling containers, I always use a soilless mixture — never garden soil. Garden soil invariably becomes too compacted and heavy; often, it contains a few weeds and bugs.

Determining which soilless mixture is just right for a basket can be a challenge, but exciting new types continue to pop up. Whichever soil you choose, keep to a regular daily watering routine. When you're watering, add a pinch of 20-20-20 fertilizer to the can; plants in hanging baskets need those extra nutrients.

Now that we've dug into the soil question, here are a few plants that are very well suited to hanging baskets.

The New Wave Petunias have certainly caused some excitement here at the greenhouse. They're vegetatively propagated plants with lots of color. The Purple Wave can trail down at least four feet from the brim of the basket, and sometimes even five or six feet under optimum conditions. The Pink Wave spreads a little less than the purple, but it's still a lovely flower. Both Waves can stand temperatures down to -4 degrees C, so you'll enjoy them well into the fall. These petunias are heavy feeders, though, so make sure to add some extra fertilizer; feed them about twice as heavily as you would an average plant.

I've always liked lantanas in hanging baskets, but unfortunately, the old varieties were somewhat woody and sparse; not so, the new Patriot variety. These are full, lush plants, smothered in yellow flowers; Patriots are much more healthy and vigorous than older Lantanas. They love the heat and can withstand a period of drying out — though I still recommend keeping them watered regularly.

Grandiflora and Radiance are two new portulaca varieties that are great for hot, dry locations; these are forgiving plants. They are well adapted to dry environments and will spring back to life if you water them after they've dried out. Both have big blooms; the Grandiflora's are rose colored, while the Radiance sports rose and white bicolored flowers. They're light feeders, too.

These are just a few of the possibilities for hanging baskets. Don't be afraid to experiment; I've had friends who have grown everything from cacti to carrots in hanging baskets, with great success. And if at first you don't succeed... well, try again; just hang in there.

4-H Expo a huge success for Saddle Slickers

By Rhonda Hansen
President, Elk Point Saddle Slickers

The Elk Point Saddle Slickers 4-H Light Horse Club had an excellent weekend in Lloydminster, June 5 and 6, 1999. Ashley Larson won Senior High Point riding Tivio on Saturday for the day performance classes. Jamie Schnurer was also pleased with her Senior Reserve on Panda, Meggan Parker with her mount Zip took home the Junior High Point. Junior members Chelsea Schnurer on Leo and sister Danielle Schnurer on Mister, Intermediate competitor Tara Campbell on Gladys and Senior member Rhonda Hansen riding Danny were also in the ribbons on Saturday.

Members from all clubs were placed on teams for the card judging of four horses just before lunch. The last event of the day Saturday evening was the most awaited for event of the weekend. Six clubs presented a two minute musical ride, which was judged by Kim Eremko from Vermilion. Elk Point riders Jamie Schnurer, Ashley Larson, Meggan Parker, Tara Campbell and Danielle Schnurer competed in a technical performance to Garth Brooks' "The Thunder Rolls." Each rider received a blue ribbon for second place.

Sunday, June 6 was the fun filled day for gymkhana events. Ashley Larson was High Point Senior and Joann Davies riding Tucker was reserve. Meggan Parker was also awarded Junior Reserve. Senior Rhonda Hansen and Intermediate Tara Campbell also went home with more than one ribbon in the events. Many regional 4-H friendships were formed and old ones reacquainted. The club is already planning for next year's 4-H Expo.

Keeping the spirit of hope alive

New organizer needed for '99 Terry Fox Run

The Terry Fox Foundation is in need of volunteers to help organize the 19th Annual Terry Fox Run in Elk Point. Since 1980, residents of Elk Point have Elk Point have sustained Terry's legacy and taken part in the fight against cancer. For this spirit of support to continue, the Terry Fox Foundation needs the assistance of dedicated, energetic volunteers to participate on the Elk Point Terry Fox Run Committee.

The committee is responsible for overseeing all aspects of the run, including setting the course, the promotion of the event, and managing other run-day activities. A successful Terry Fox Run is the result of a collaborative effort of several people. The Foundation is seeking volunteers of all backgrounds to join the committee. Volunteer initiatives are supported by the Alberta Terry Fox Run office who will provide free promotional materials, direction and support.

In the past nine years, Elk Point's citizens have raised more than $25,000 to support researchers working to find a cure for cancer. Without the help of compassionate individuals, the Terry Fox Run will not take place in Elk Point this year. Citizens of Elk Point are encouraged to join the thousands of people around the world who will be supporting Terry Fox's legacy of hope on Sunday, September 19, 1999 by volunteering to organize Elk Point's Terry Fox Run.

Interested volunteers should contact Paul Newmarch at 1-888-TFOXRUN (1-888-836-9786).

Twenty unanswered runs for Sox = 12 and 2 season

By Doug Bassett
Review Sports

How do you know when you could be in for a bad night? Well, here's a few clues. After scrambling around to make sure you have enough players, you're late leaving, you get caught in the construction south of the river, and the radar gun that comes out before the game starts is not for clocking 95 mile-per-hour fastballs, and the man behind it gives you a nice little present to take home to Mama.

Tuesday night the Midget White Sox travelled to Wainwright where they were handed only their second loss of the season, 9 to 7. With a five run lead, going into the fifth inning after Aaron Hansen ripped one over the fence in centre field, the setting sun proved too much for the Sox fielders who dropped four popups in one inning.

On Sunday at Bassett Field, in the round robin of the week, with Vermilion and Wainwright, Benny Mathews answered the call, pitching in only his second game, and went four strong innings not allowing a run. Then closer Jon Yake came in the fifth, shutting down Vermilion, the Sox winning 10 - 0 in five innings. Travis "Downtown" Brown had an inside-the-park home run, a nice hit that would have been out of most parks.

The stage was set for the second game of the day against Wainwright, the Sox were ready and determined not to have a repeat of Tuesday night. They came to play and with Aaron Hanson on the hill, with lots of heat and his sinker ball working just fine, they had no problem finishing them off in five innings with the same 10 - 0 results. Aaron, with ten K's and no runs, is now starting to find his old stuff from a few years ago when he was the most valuable player in the National championship in "AAA" Bantams. His elbow was operated on, and he missed playing last year, but is now back to his old form.

Two games, two big wins, 20 runs scored in ten innings of play, without allowing any runs. Very impressive, wouldn't you say? The Sox record after 14 games is now 12 wins, 2 losses for a winning percentage of .857.

It was a nice tribute to the team to have two veteran Sox alumni players do the announcing and commentary for the games on Sunday. My old buddies, Rene "Gazoo" deMoissac and Shaun "Barney" Moroziuk, two great guys who spent a lot of years with the Sox, came back to help out with the team. Thanks, guys!

Tonight Medley is in town to play the Sox at 6:30 at Bassett Field. Then this coming weekend the Sox will be hosting the year end final playoff tournament at home at Bassett Field. Five teams are coming for sure, and possibly more, one day or two, we're still not sure, so watch the street sign for times and dates.

The Rookie Boys coached by Gary Marceniuk will also be hosting the year end tournament this Saturday in town, so come on out to the ball park and take in a few games.

The Midget Girls, with some big hits by Andrea Myshaniuk, won over Lloydminster then lost to Marwayne's ladies team this past Monday night.

The Mosquitoes, who are coached by Allan Loughran, had another good week defeating Bonnyville and St. Paul. Some great fielding by the second baseman, Jeff Classen and big hits by rookie players Jordan Krankowski and Brad Swedgan.

The Mosquitoes play in Bonnyville tonight then host Bonnyville on Thursday and are in Medley at the air base this weekend in the final tournament.

Dave Cousins and his Bantam Girls played the St. Paul Renegades and were winning 16 to 15 after four innings when the rain came and shut them down. The girls start their playoffs Wednesday night in St. Paul.

Rick Bilak's Pee wee Boys will also be in St. Paul this weekend for their year ender.

Lois Mutch and the Bantam Boys were off all this past week, but are busy in Medley tonight then host Bonnyville on Thursday and have their year end windup on Saturday and Sunday in Bonnyville.

For the first time in many years, Elk Point Minor Ball will be having team pictures on Friday night, contact Roger at 724-4001 for more info.

Isn't this crazy, it seems like ball is just getting started, but for most teams it will be all over this weekend. I wonder what will finish first, the hockey playoffs or baseball? Ridiculous, isn't it, but if the Leafs or Oilers were still playing, we wouldn't think so, would we? Oh, no.

Elk Point Soccer Club highlights

By Cathy Ockerman
Elk Point Soccer Club

First, I'd like to apologize for any misspelled names, errors or omissions in the last Soccer Update.

On Saturday, June 5, the U7 and U9 teams attended a mini tournament in St. Paul. The event was fairly well organized and it was emphasized that it was a FUN tournament for the kids to learn from. The U7A team won their first game and lost their second game. Danika Clavelle scored all four of the goals in the victory over St. Paul. The second game was a loss to Myrnam, and the score was forgotten. The team had a great time and learned a lot from the experience. All teams in the tournament received medals.

Unfortunately I was unable to obtain highlights from the U7B games. Maybe next week! The U9A team met up with three different St. Paul teams throughout the day. Ian Jurak and Chevy Botting did most of the scoring. Shayden Anderson, Garrett Duffee and Tyson Bristow scored the rest. The team played well defensively and Tyson Bristow was noted to have a strong clearing drill. Shayden Anderson and Milo Smith played goal for the team, assisting in the three game victory.

The U9B team also won all three of their games against two St. Paul teams and one Two Hills team. The team played well defensively with Jason Proski, Marvin Ockerman and Kent Boyko playing in the goalie position with James Sparks, Kent Boyko and Kameron Ballas doing the scoring. Robyn Ockerman and Sarah Zarowny played well defensively for the team.

The U13 team met with Myrnam on Monday, suffering another loss. This time, however, the score was close. The team played well defensively and offensively. It brought a lot of confidence to the team and raised their morale.

The U11 team met with a St. Paul team on June 9 but no highlights were available.

On Saturday, June 12, the U9 teams went to Cold Lake for another mini tournament. Once again the U9A team won all three of their games, with good defensive play by Nicole Labrie and goalkeeping by Garrett Duffee, Shayden Anderson and Milo Smith. Scoring was by Chevy Botting, Shayden Anderson, Tyson Bristow and Ian Jurak.

The U9B didn't fare as well. Their first meeting was against Cold Lake #4 and was the first loss for the U9B team this season. It has to be said that the Cold Lake team was physically larger than our team and all players were ready to move to the next age level. Kameron Ballas scored the lone goal in that game for Elk Point. In the second game Elk Point showed that the first loss didn't affect them. They came back to beat Cold Lake #3 with Kameron Ballas and James Sparks doing the scoring. Shae Brown was slightly injured during this game but came back to play in the third game of the afternoon. This was a meeting with Bonnyville #2. This proved to be the most physical game the team has ever played, but they did well. Sarah Zarowny made her debut appearance in goal for the first quarter of this game. She did very well. Marvin Ockerman did the goalkeeping for the remainder of the game. James Sparks scored most of the goals for that game, with Kent Boyko also scoring.

At the St. Paul tournament, one of the organizers was quite impressed with the quality of play by the Elk Point teams. Our soccer coaches stress the importance of playing as a team and the players find that when they do play as a team they have a greater chance at success.

This week there are several games on the schedule. The U7 teams are playing on Monday as well as the U13 team. On Wednesday the U9 teams are busy while the U11 team will attend the Lakeland Cup tournament in Vermilion on the weekend.

Come on out to a game!

Reading Program: It just wouldn't be summer without it!

By Karina Mitchell
Librarian

It's coming! I mean, it just wouldn't be summer without it! Of course I'm talking about the Library's Summer Reading Program! This year's theme is Discover The World at Your Library. And that is just what we invite you to do. We will be running the program July and August, Wednesdays and Thursdays. Ages 8 to 12 will meet on Wednesdays and 4 to 8 year olds on Thursdays, both 1:30 to 3:00 p.m.

As usual, there will be games, crafts, snacks and wonderful stories and books exploring the theme. We will look at geography and cultures around the world, learning about their customs, foods and celebrations.

This year's coordinator is Carlen Mutch. And she is full of ideas and ready to go. I am thrilled that she accepted the position and I'm really looking forward to this summer and all the excitement we are bound to have at the Library.

The cost is $1 per session. So don't delay. Sign up now at the Library!

Father's Day at Christian Community Church

By Rev. Sam Donaldson
Christian Community Church

"Just a few more days and you will be the centre of attraction, Dad." That's the way it will be in many homes and this is the way it will be at the Elk Point Christian Community Church.

We are having a breakfast at 9:30 a.m., followed by a worship service at 11:00 a.m. This will be an outdoor event, weather permitting, with special music by our own Andy Pearson and a visiting group from Beauvallon called "The Beauvallon Buckaroos." The church music group will be on hand to lead the worship singing and praise.

Last year many people from the community of Elk Point came along and enjoyed the celebration. We invite these people to return for this year's Father's Day. If you missed last year, and are free on June 20, please come eat, worship and celebrate with us. Rev. Sam will be speaking about "Damned Dads," which looks an interesting topic. There will also be an inspirational reading by the Honorary Father of the Year. I wonder who that will be? Guess we'll just have to attend and find out.

The Elk Point Christian Community Church takes this opportunity to wish all the Elk Point fathers a happy and special Father's Day.

Goodridge Beef Club hosts the St. Paul District 4-H Heifer Show

Goodridge 4-H Beef Club hosted the St. Paul 4-H District Heifer Show on June 13, with 4-Hers from St. Paul, Bonnyville, Lac La Biche and Elk Point competing against the local club.

Clayton Elliott judged conformation while Stan Harder judged grooming and showmanship and Terry Holmgren marked the judging cards. Roger Bilodeau was master of ceremonies and Ed Cozicar was ringman for the afternoon.

The Grooming competition saw Elk Point's Kyle Kurek win the Junior trophy, with Coral VanDerVoort of Goodridge second. Patricia Burdek of LacLaBiche won the Senior trophy, with Shannon Ambler of Goodridge second.

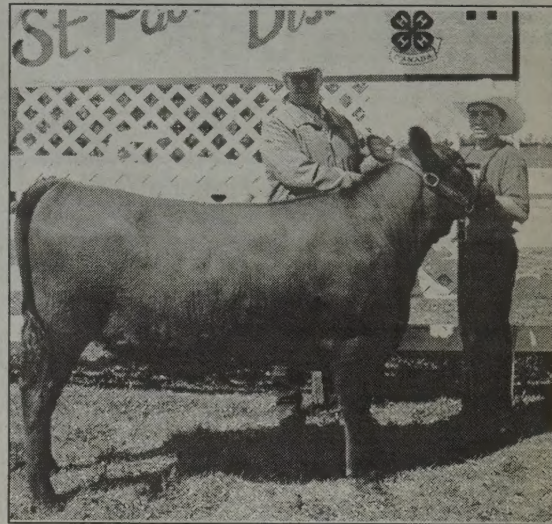

Elk Point shone in the Junior Judging, with Mark Ference first and Kyle Kurek second, while Michael Fontaine of St. Paul won the Senior Judging with Patricia Burdek second.

Yearling heifers were divided into commercial and purebred classes for preliminary judging, with Shannon Ambler and Patricia Burdek from the former and Lisa Murphy and Ryan Murphy, both of Bonnyville, chosen from the latter to compete in the final round. Lisa Murphy's Charolais was named Champion Yearling, with Shannon Ambler's animal placing second.

Lisa Murphy's entry topped seven pairs in the Cow-Calf competition, edging out Deanne Dechaine's Hereford twosome, also from Bonnyville, with the same results repeated in the the Herd Competition.

Winners from the Yearling and Cow-Calf classes came back into the ring for the Championship, where Lisa Murphy's Charolais cow and calf received the Supreme Champion banner and Deanne Dechaine's Herefords took the Reserve.

Miss Murphy also won in the Showmanship competition, where she took first in the Junior slot, ahead of Coral VanDerVoort. Peter Danyluk of Elk Point was the Senior winner, with Shannon Ambler second.

KYLE KUREK accepts the Junior Grooming trophy from Bill Gaugler of Gaugler Quarter Horses.

JUNIOR JUDGING awards were presented by Sharon Boorse of Boorse Custom Haying to Mark Ference, centre and Kyle Kurek.

SENIOR SHOWMANSHIP honors went to Peter Danyluk, who accepted the Steve Trach & Family trophy from Doug Laschowski.

Traffic blitz for Thursday

By Sgt. Lyle Marianchuk
Elk Point RCMP Detachment

Elk Point RCMP Detachment wishes to advise the motoring public that there will be an all day traffic blitz in and around the Elk Point area on Thursday, June 17. The traffic enforcement initiative will be conducted by Elk Point Detachment members with assistance from St. Paul Traffic Services, and is a direct result of numerous traffic complaints being lodged by the general public. There will be a "zero tolerance" in relation to all traffic related offenses which will include speeding infractions, especially in school zones, seat belt infractions, illegal u-turns, parking violations and all other moving and non-moving violations.

Please think and drive safely.

Vehicle stereo components stolen

By Cst. Peter Beardy
Elk Point RCMP Detachment

During the early morning hours on June 10, 1999, an unknown individual broke into a vehicle parked in a driveway of a residence on the 5100 block of 52nd Avenue in Elk Point. The culprit(s) stole numerous car stereo components such as a subwoofer, a couple of amplifiers, compact discs and a Bell Radar Detector. Damage was incurred to the motor vehicle.

Anyone with information is asked to call Crime Stoppers at 1-800-222-TIPS or the Elk Point RCMP Detachment at (780) 724-3829.

Crime Stoppers will pay up to $2000 for information leading to the arrest of the person(s) responsible for this or any crime. You do not have to reveal your identity and if your tip leads to an arrest you qualify for an award.
